PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATIONS

Your Advisor has achieved the designations below. If you would like additional information you may discuss with your advisor or visit the issuing entities website.

CFP®-Certified Financial Planner

Individuals certified by CFP® Board have taken the step to demonstrate their professionalism by voluntarily submitting to the CFP® certification process that includes thorough education, examination, experience and ethical requirements. The CFP® is issued by the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. Pre-requisites require a designee to hold a Bachelor's degree (or higher) from an accredited college or university as well as three years of full-time personal financial planning experience. The designee is then required to complete a CFP® board registered program, or hold one of the following designations; CPA, ChFC, CLU, CFA, PH.D. in business or economics, Doctor of Business Administration, or Attorney's License. The designee is then required to complete the CFP® certification examination. In addition, the designee is required to complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years.

EA-Enrolled Agent

Enrolled Agents are federally-authorized tax practitioners who possess technical knowledge in the field of taxation and who are empowered by the U.S. Department of Treasury to represent taxpayers before all administrative levels of the Internal Revenue Service for audits, collections and appeals. The EA is issued by the Internal Revenue Service. Pre-requisites require the designee to pass a background check to ensure that designees have not engaged in any conduct that would justify the suspension of an enrolled agent from practice before the IRS. The designee is then required to pass a written exam or receive a waiver for accepted IRS experience. In addition, the designee must complete 72 hours of continuing education over three years with a minimum of 16 hours each year. Six of these hours must be ethics training.

There are certain business activities in which an investment advisor representative may engage that present potential conflicts of interest. If applicable, additional disclosure relevant to your Advisor's outside business activities are outlined below. Please note that these are potential conflicts of interest and it is your Advisor's fiduciary duty to act in your best interest. If you have any questions about the disclosures please ask your Advisor as this is an opportunity to better understand your relationship and your Advisor's activities.

Your advisor is also a registered representative with Cambridge Investment Research, Inc., ("Cambridge") a registered securities broker/dealer, member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) and the Securities Investors Protection Corporation (SIPC). When acting as a registered representative of Cambridge, your advisor may sell, for commissions, general securities products such as stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and variable annuity and variable life products to advisory clients. Clients are not obliged to purchase or sell securities through Cambridge or their Advisor. However, if you choose to establish an account with your Advisor, it is important to understand that due to regulatory constraints, your Advisor must place all purchases and sales of securities products in commission-based accounts through Cambridge or other institutions approved by Cambridge.

The receipt of commissions may create an incentive for your Advisor to recommend those products for which they will receive a commission. Consequently, the objectivity of the advice rendered to clients could be biased. Your Advisor controls for this potential conflict of interest by discussing with clients their specific needs, the benefits and negatives of establishing a fee-based account through CIRA versus establishing a commission-based account through Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. and also the compensation arrangements under the different scenarios.

Your Advisor may receive 12b-1 fees from certain mutual fund companies as outlined in the fund's prospectus. 12b-1 fees are considered distribution or marketing fees and come from fund assets and indirectly from client assets through fund expenses. There are numerous reasons why your Advisor may recommend a certain mutual fund but it is possible the receipt of such fees represents an incentive for your Advisor to recommend funds with 12b-1 fees over funds that have no fees or lower fees. 12b-1 fees can be earned in fee-based accounts managed by CIRA if 12b-1 fee paying mutual funds are held in the managed account. In such a situation, your Advisor will discuss the selection of a 12b-1 or other trail paying mutual funds. CIRA and your Advisor may lower or offset the management fee by the amount of 12b-1 fees and other commissions received in the event such types of compensation are received. CIRA does not require this fee offset for ERISA and other qualified accounts.

Your Advisor is independently licensed to sell insurance and annuity products through various insurance companies. When acting in this capacity, your Advisor will receive commissions for selling insurance and annuity products. Clients may choose any independent insurance agent and insurance company to purchase insurance products and are not obligated to purchase insurance products through your Advisor. Regardless of the insurance agent selected, the insurance agent or agency may receive normal commissions from the sale. The receipt of compensation and other potential incentive benefits creates an incentive to recommend products to clients. At the time of any recommendations your Advisor will discuss the products, your needs and any compensation arrangements.

Your Advisor is an accountant or Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and if your Advisor determines that a client is in need of tax or accounting services, the client may be referred to your Advisor's accounting firm or practice. In addition, if accounting or tax clients are in need of financial planning or other advisory services, your Advisor acting in their separate capacity as an accountant may refer or recommend investment services available through CIRA or Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. Clients are not obligated to use these accounting services, however, if they choose to do so, the client will be charged separately.

Your Advisor is also affiliated with Financial Planning Fort Collins, an investment advisor not affiliated with CIRA that provides financial planning services.

Clients that engage Financial Planning Fort Collins will receive a copy of the Financial Planning Fort Collins disclosure document and will execute a client agreement specifying the services provided and fees charged by Financial Planning Fort Collins.

ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

In addition to the description of other business activities outlined above, your Advisor may receive additional benefits from CIRA when assets are held through investment management platforms offered by CIRA, which may include CIRA's CAAP program (also described in CIRA's Disclosure Brochure). The benefits received are in addition to the advisory fees received by your Advisor for serving as the investment advisor representative to the client's account. These benefits include but are not limited to discounts on performance reporting software and participation in conferences.

Certain product sponsors may provide your Advisor with economic benefits as a result of your Advisor's recommendation or sale of the product sponsors' investments. The economic benefits received can include but are not limited to, financial assistance or the sponsorship of conferences and educational sessions, marketing support, incentive awards, payment of travel expenses, and tools to assist your Advisor in providing various services to clients. These economic benefits may be received directly by your Advisor or indirectly through CIRA and/or Cambridge Investment Research, Inc. who have entered into specific arrangements with product sponsors. These economic benefits could influence your advisor to recommend certain products/programs over others. Please review the CIRA and Cambridge Revenue Sharing Disclosure located at www.cir2.com for further information. It is also available upon request.

Your Advisor's investment advisory activities are supervised by Joseph A. Lloyd. Joseph A. Lloyd monitors the recommendations provided by your Advisor and any transactions that are executed in your advisory accounts. Supervision is conducted through electronic reporting as well as personal communications and visits with your Advisor.
